Abstract

This document is a cover page for deliverable D8.1: Q-ImPrESS project website. The Q-ImPrESS project website is a web resource accessible at <http://www.q-impress.eu>. It was created both as an internal collaboration platform for project members (in the private area) and as a means to facilitate the external dissemination of knowledge (in the public area). The public area of the website contains an overview of the project (goal, objectives, vision) and the consortium, download links for the public deliverables created in the project, official releases of the open-source tools developed in the project, a list of upcoming events relevant for the project, and the list of publications resulted in the project. The project website is updated regularly with the newest information as soon as it becomes available.

Keywords: website, project dissemination.
